—An audience which taxes the seating capacity of the Christian church greets Evangelist Coombs nightly. His subject Saturday night will be: "The Gospel a Cure for All D. J. Lusions." Sunday will be "decision day." Beside the regular services there will be a revival service at 7 a. m., a woman's meeting at 2:30 in the church, and a meeting for men in the opera house at 3:30. The evening service at 7:30 will also be in the opera house.

—Mrs. Huston and Mrs. Callahan, on Wednesday, gave another delightful "at home," about fifty of their lady friends being present. Of a number of such entertainments given by these ladies of late, none have been more enjoyable than that of Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Huston. The early part of the afternoon was spent in lively conversation. Later, Mrs. Cordley sang a very pleasing number. Miss Crawford then gave an enjoyable reading, after which delicious refreshments were served. During the afternoon the entertainment was such as to banish the cares of life, and all those present will welcome the recurrence of such an event in which they have a part.

—The U. of O. and Albany College teams played a game of football at Albany Wednesday, and by a place kick in the last minute of play, Eugene won by a score of four to naught. About 30 college students and Corvallisites went over to see the game. Most of those aver that the two teams were fairly evenly matched, but that by straight football, Albany made perhaps double the yardage that was made by the Eugene men. The play was most of the time in Albany territory, but that was due to the superior punting of Eugene. The final score, according to these accounts, was also due to bad judgment on the part of the Albany quarterback, who signaled for a lineback when he should have ordered a punt that would have carried the ball out of danger.

—A very pleasant gathering occurred at the home of James Pfouts near Monroe on Sunday, Oct. 9, 1904, where the daughter, Miss Carrie Pfouts and Mr. Ira Lemon were united in marriage. M. M. Waltz was the officiating minister. Thirty-one guests were present to witness the ceremony and gave proof of the esteem in which this couple are held, by many beautiful as well as useful presents. A bountiful lunch was served after the ceremony. The bride is the youngest daughter of James Pfouts, a prosperous farmer, living one and a half miles north of Monroe, while the groom is the youngest son of the late James Lemon, whose family have furnished husbands and wives for several happy homes in Southern Benton. The newly wedded pair will reside on the farm of Hon. R. J. Nichols.

HATS OF STRAW.

China Gets the Credit For Having First Made Them.

The earliest makers of straw hats were unquestionably the Chinese. Their work was by no means rough in character, but plaited and sewn together with considerable skill, as may be seen today in the neighborhood of Canton.

In Europe hats were first made in Paris by a Swiss so early as 1404, and we find mentioned among the entries of an inventory of the effects of Sir John Fastolfe, 1450, "four strawen hattes," showing them to have been great rarities. Coryatt mentions them as worn in Provence, with a hundred seams, lined with silver and curiously worked.

Tuscany, with Leghorn as a center, took up the work early in the fifteenth century and has maintained it with considerable skill ever since. Bedfordshire, with Dunstable and Luton as centers, has been the headquarters of the industry in England ever since the early part of the seventeenth century. —London Mail.

A Story of Matt Carpenter.

Matt Carpenter, the famous Wisconsin senator, was pleading a case before the supreme court. Before he had got half through with his argument the judges had made up their minds that his case was without merit, and, moreover, that he was unprepared. When he finished his argument and counsel for the other side got up to reply, the judges whispered to each other, nodded and then the chief justice said, "I don't think it will be necessary to hear from you, sir." Carpenter's opponent was deaf, and he could only tell that the chief justice was addressing him. He turned to Carpenter for aid. "What did the chief justice say, Matt?" he whispered. "He said he'd rather give you the case than listen to you," Carpenter bawled in his ear.

The Wrong Department.

A prominent physician tells this story at the expense of the modern craze for specialization in the medical profession: A poor woman from the east side of New York went to a nearby dispensary to ask aid for her little son, who had had one of his fingers smashed by a baseball bat. At the first room where she applied she was told by a curt attendant that the boy could not be treated there.

"Wrong place," he explained. "This is the eye and ear department."

"Where is der thumb und finger department?" inquired the woman simply. —Harper's Weekly.

Her Highest Compliment.

"What did you think of my speech?" asked the orator.

"It was beautiful," said the young woman. "It made me think of my commencement essay." —Washington Star.

It is too bad that there isn't some way for always having a girl baby just three years old in the family. —Atchison Globe.

LAST SUMMER'S WORK

PERMANENT CURES PERFORMED BY DR. DARRIN IN SALEM—NOW AT HOTEL CORVALLIS.

Among the many cases treated by Dr. Darrin, and presented for publication, are the following which speaks volumes for the doctor's skill and the permanency of his cures. Mrs. Ross and Mr. Darby are well known in Marion county.

MR DARBY CURED OF CATARRH.

Salem, Or., June 19, 1902.—Dr. Darrin. For eight years I have been afflicted with catarrh in the head and throat, causing bleeding of the nose. Your treatment by electricity and medicines cured me completely. I will say that for the small amount you charged me, I would not endure the catarrh one day though it cost me ten times the amount I gave you to cure me. I offer you these few lines of testimony with my own free will.

C. W. DARBY.

MRS. ROSS' GOOD LUCK.

Salem, Oregon, June 15, 1903.—To the Editor; Dear Sir: I am proud to witness to the public the skill of Dr. Darrin as a physician. Nearly ten years ago I presented myself to him a miserable diseased physical wreck, body and mind, never having a thought of seeing a well day again, but hoping to receive from him some temporary relief. One year ago I did not dare take a mouthful of solid food into my stomach. I lived on soup and ocos on account of my intense suffering—apparently afflicted with an acute and incurable disease of the stomach. I took the treatment of Dr. Darrin three months and have since been able to sit down to any kind of food and relish it to my satisfaction, never fearing any evil results. My afflictions were chronic dyspepsia, constipation, liver and kidney complaints, pains in the heart and lungs and diseases peculiar to my sex. Now life is a pleasure, I am a stranger to pain of any form. Have not had such health in twenty years. I feel lifted into a new world and enjoy all things on account of feeling well again. Publish this, that others may be benefited. Refer your readers to me at Salem, Or.

Very respectfully,
MRS. BEULAH B. ROSS.

DR. DARRIN'S PLACE OF BUSINESS.

Dr. Darrin is located at the Hotel Corvallis until October 30 and will give free examination to all from 10 to 5 or 7 to 8 daily. The poor free except medicine, 10 to 11 daily, and those able to pay at the rate of $5 a week or in that proportion of time as the case may require. All curable chronic diseases of men and women a specialty. Eyes tested free and glasses fitted at reasonable prices.
